

ON THE FARMS IN CAROLINA

KNAPP ADVISES COTTON FARMERS

Tells How Boll Weevil May Be Outdone.

Dr. S. A. Knapp, of the United States department of agriculture in a recent bulletin issued, says that while the cotton crop of 1909 was one of the worst ever known in the South, that it has taught some valuable lessons.

It is demonstrated that a crop of cotton, under heavy boll weevil infestation, could be made after July 1 provided the farmers pick up the punctured squares and work the field in the same manner as in the case of the few bolls on the cotton plants in Louisiana and southern Mississippi on July 1, 1909.

deep fall breaking. We therefore advise the following plan on such lands: "Burn all the cotton stalks, and after the weevils have gone in with their quarters burn all the rubbish in and about the field as early in the fall as possible. In the spring, level off the firm ground, giving more space between rows. Prepare a good seed bed before planting and maintain the foregoing in especially for lands where, under weevil conditions there is an excess of plant growth.

"The land must be well drained and no sugar cane planted there can be intensively worked. "All the supplies of plant and soil on the lands not planted to cotton. It is practically wise to make advance in both weevil territory if the farmer follows government instructions.

"There should be a rigid system of inspection to see that the government instructions are followed. "The great drought and the intense heat in July and August last year throughout Texas and Oklahoma accentuated the importance of deeper tillage and more thorough preparation of the soil.

"I ask every agent of the farmers' cooperative demonstration work and every farmer in the Southern States to do his best to make a banner crop of all farm staples in 1910."

INSPECTORS JOBS LOOK PRETTY GOOD

Col. Watson Has Received Many Applications.

WORK BEGINS ON 1ST OF MAY

Food and Feed Inspectors for the Protection of the Farmer of the State.

Hundreds of applications are being received by Commissioner Watson for positions as inspectors which are being reserved for under the food and feed inspectors act passed at the last session of the general assembly. The two law bills which have passed the house and the inspectors are to be paid out of the treasury of the state. The commissioner announced yesterday that no appointments would be made until June 1, as there would be no funds available until that time. The appointments have been taken under consideration and appointments will be made on merit. The act in conference will be held with representatives of the number of food and feed inspectors, and the inspectors are to be paid out of the treasury of the state. A FARM HOME

You can secure in the tract below described something more than a farm-house offered a home in which you can live with pleasure, and land on which you can farm with profit. A corner lot, 100x100, located in the beautiful High Hill of the Banting section, on one of the main State thoroughfares with three miles of Wooded hill, surrounded by 100 acres of fertile fields and 2 1/2 acres of beautiful and productive woods. All of these features are all for the comparatively small sum of $10,000—enough to prove an attractive proposition. If you want to get pleasure as well as profit out of life, make this place your home. I will tell you how.
