

Social Whirl

By Christie Z. Fant

This is the week that brings the "no more pencils, no more books, no more teachers' dirty looks" end-of-school time for the youngsters, and a just-as-welcome breathing spell for their teachers!

Among the college contingent, and the graduating group, "Watcha doin' this summer?" is the standard question. And the answers range from "getting married" (note June's bridal statistics) to "getting a job" to "going to Europe" to "going to the beach," or the mountains, or wherever favorite vacation spots might be. For a goodly number, the answer is "going to summer school" — increasingly popular and enterprising way to get off extra credits ahead of time. Seems to us that the modern-day collegi-Ann and Andys don't let a bit of grass grow under their feet!

This Close-To-Summer Season...

In some towns, this end-of-school and summer-holiday season brings debut time for the college contingent. The Debutante Club of Rock Hill, for instance, has sent out invitations to its Debutante Ball on Friday evening, June 9.

And, just about everywhere around South Carolina, it's also sprucing-up-the-patio season, and filling-up-the-pool-time. Here in Columbia, where this week's temperatures started off in the 90's, the bathing suit brigade has been making the big splash around town — at such popular gathering spots, for instance, as the Forest Lake Club pool, where the usual festive occasion was made recently out of the official pool opening. The club membership gathered for the annual poolside party the other Saturday evening, and lots of them stayed on for dinner and dancing afterward.

For some social groups, this May-June season brings annual-meeting and new-officers time. One of them, the Quadrille Club, has elected J. Ed Smith as president for the 1967-68 season, during which the club will continue its custom of entertaining with three dances. Mr. Smith succeeds outgoing president John L. Lentz. And succeeding Mrs. John A. Warren as vice-president will be Mrs. Robert F. Pulliam. Alderman Duncan will continue as secretary of the club, which originated in Columbia in the 1920's and called itself the Ace of Clubs for a number of years... changing to Quadrille Club after World War II.

The Houseparty Season...

It's that time of year again, for sure. You know it when you hear houseparty plans being made — the beaches as the most popular setting as usual, and June-week gathering time seeming to be slanted toward this coming Saturday.

In addition to the college crowd who'll be doffing campus clothes and donning bathing suits, the stragglers at Pawleys will include a Columbia crowd of Dreherites who've just finished the ninth grade:

Ann Allison, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Richard Allison Jr. . . Gwen Brown, daughter of Mrs. Charlton Brown and the late Dr. Brown. . . Georgia Holler, Dr. and Mrs. John Holler's daughter. . . Almeda Maxwell, who belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Keels Maxwell. . . Beth Johnson, whose parents are the Jack Johnsons. . . Laurie Lumpkin, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Lumpkin's daughter. . . Jan Southard, daughter of the Herchel Southards. . . Anne Koon—Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Koon are her parents. . . and Corinne Foster, daughter of Mrs. Barbara B. Foster.

Harriett Nettles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Nettles, is in the group. . . so are Marion Tompkins, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tompkins. . . Lisbeth Wolfe, her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Chris Wolfe III. . . Robin Harmon, daughter of the G. Thomas Harmons. . . Jane Dreher, the James F. Dreher's daughter. . . Trina Hunt, whose mother and father are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce O. Hunt. . . Kristen Shealy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Shealy. . . Louise Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wallace Martin. . . and Mary Praytor, whose parents are Dr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Praytor.

They'll be going down Saturday for a week, staying at the old Hucks house. . . and filling the shoes as chaperones will be Mrs. Nettles, Mrs. Dreher, Mrs. Harmon, Mrs. Foster.

Meeting Dates Set By SCFWC Board

Dates important to the operation of the South Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs were announced at the annual May meeting of the executive board in Columbia.

Mrs. H. Sanford Howie of Greenville, first vice-president of the federation and dean of departments, reported the district conferences will begin Oct. 4 when South Central district meets in Florence; and during the week two others will be held. Eastern district conference will meet Oct. 5 in McColl and North Central on Oct. 6 in Pageland.

Her Reasons For Working Depend On Home Situation

DEAR ABBY: Randy and I both have full time jobs and we are tired when we get home at night. There is dinner to prepare, cleaning up afterwards, and the million and one other things that require time and attention to run a home properly. Abby I know this is supposed to be a woman's job, but I need help.

My day time job is every bit as demanding of me as Randy's is of him, so why should I have to come back to more work after a hard day's work, while Randy comes home to "relax"? I think since I'm also working, my husband should share in the housework. This leads to arguments. Please answer soon as the kitchen sink is still piled with dishes from two nights ago.

BUSHED
DEAR BUSHED: One question: Why are you working? If you must work to put food on the table, then Randy shouldn't mind helping with the housework. But, if you're working for extra luxuries, you'd be wiser to eat beans and work harder at making your home one which your man will enjoy coming home to.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 16. I have short hair and I like it that way. Today I went into a drug store, and the man said, "Hello, Sonny." (He actually mistook me for a boy!)

I used to like long hair on a boy (not down to his shoulders, of course, but "long") but now that I am wearing mine short I feel funny going out with a boy who has longer hair than I have.

Some of the boys wear their hair so long I have to look twice to see if they're boys or girls.

I don't understand how a boy would want to even take the chance of being mistaken for a girl. Can you explain this to me?

SHORT-HAIRED GIRL
DEAR GIRL: No. It doesn't make any more sense than the girl who would wear her hair so short she would chance being mistaken for a boy. I don't care which argument you counter with (I have heard them all from Jesus to George Washington). I maintain that long hair is feminine and short hair is masculine, and the kind of impression one wants to create consciously, or unconsciously, is his own business.

DUMB LIKE A FOX
CONFIDENTIAL to "Bitter" in New London: If you work for a man, speak well of him or not at all. I am aware that not everyone can speak well of his employer, in which case he should keep his mouth shut and find another job.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Boa Makes An 'In' Entrance At Party

By ELEANOR LAMBERT

If you have an old feather boa stored away somewhere, get it out, fluff it up and make the "in" entrance of the evening at the next party.

If anybody mentions Sadie Thompson, they're either envious or too old.

The leggy, long-haired young have re-discovered the boa and made it their summer badge. It looks terribly right waving tenderly at the top of their summer uniform, a spare little nothing shift with deep cut-in armholes. They wrap them high up around the chin with the ends dangling down the back.

Feathers have been quite a thing in solem de luxe fashion for several seasons, since Balenciaga used individual ostrich fronds, sewn upside down to make them stick out, as a replacement for the all-over beaded dress.

Mrs. Charles Wrightsman ordered it. The next season the same technique was used by Trigere and Sarmi. We called them "eyelash" dresses.

The feathered hemline on short sexy dresses can be counted on from many designers. Scaasi always has one, No-trell and Cardin almost always.

The boa's comeback, though, has been through the back door—the inexpensive young dress shops with the goofy names where they put everything out or hang it from the ceiling and leave the customer alone to do her own design-in.

The results, on girls the photographers follow like flies, is often enough to change the main stream of fashion. The new slicked back long hair held by fancy looped hair bows, by the big floppy felt or fabric hat, the high sashed slip dress and white stockings all moved in from that direction.

At Casey's, the current place to be for dinner, and later at the annual Paris Review Revel (brainy young New York's revival of the old Beaux Arts Ball) there were dozens of boas flickering in the dim light of movie screens where funny old and startlingly avant garde films were running as a background for the huge discotheque. Maggie Lynch, the beautiful young girl Friday of George Plimpton's cerebral Paris Review, had a fuchsia boa with a taupe crepe sashed shift. Jane Wilson, the painter had her bright pink boa strung inside her grey coat like a high ascot.

I can see the boa idea moving right on into fall.
